On behalf of Virginia Military Institute and the George C. Marshall Foundation we welcome you to Lexington for the 77th Annual Meeting of the Society for Military History. We are pleased to host the event this year.

The Society is important to both our organizations, both of which are deeply rooted in history wedded to the extraordinary work of the Society. The Journal of Military History is published by the Society for Military History, the Virginia Military Institute, and the Marshall Foundation. All three organizations share a deep connection with George C. Marshall. He graduated from VMI in 1901 as First Captain of the Corps of Cadets; the Marshall Foundation preserves and promotes his legacy, and the Society for Military History sponsors the annual George C. Marshall Lecture.

We encourage you to walk through the VMI Post and to explore the charm of historic Lexington during your visit. A college town that’s probably similar to many of your own, Lexington enjoys a proud legacy associated with George Washington, Stonewall Jackson, and Robert E. Lee, extraordinary leaders of their day as well. Please enjoy yourself while you are here. We look forward to meeting you and to spending the next few days together.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Thomas E. Ricks
Senior fellow, Center for New American Security
Contributing editor, Foreign Policy magazine
Special military correspondent, The Washington Post
Author, Fiasco and The Gamble, about Iraq

Thomas Ricks is the author of Fiasco: The American Military Adventure in Iraq, 2003-05, which was a No. 1 New York Times bestseller and a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize in 2007. His second book on that war, The Gamble: General Petraeus and the American Military Adventure in Iraq, 2006-08, was published in February 2009, and became a New York Times bestseller. He wrote Making the Corps, which won the Washington Monthly’s “Political Book of the Year” award. In addition to his newspaper work, he has written on defense matters for the Atlantic Monthly and other publications. His first novel, A Soldier’s Duty, about the U.S. military intervening in Afghanistan, was published by Random House in June 2001—some four months before the U.S. actually did intervene there.

He covered the U.S. military for the Washington Post from 2000 through 2008. (Until the end of 1999 he had the same beat at the Wall Street Journal, where he was a reporter for 17 years.) He has reported on U.S. military activities in Somalia, Haiti, Korea, Bosnia, Kosovo, Macedonia, Kuwait, Turkey, Afghanistan and Iraq. In January 2009 he joined the Center for a New American Security, where he serves as a counselor and is researching the history of American officership, in particular the American idea of what a general should do and be. He became a contributing editor for Foreign Policy magazine, for which he writes a blog called “The Best Defense.”

Born in Massachusetts in 1955, he grew up in New York and Afghanistan and graduated magna cum laude from Yale in 1977. He now lives in Silver Spring, Maryland, with his wife. For recreation he enjoys whitewater kayaking, downhill skiing and reading military history. He is a member of the Inter-University Seminar on Armed Forces and Society, the Society for Military History, and the International Institute for Strategic Studies.

FIELD TRIPS

Field Trip to the National D-Day Memorial, Bedford, Virginia
Friday, May 21st, 1:30–5:30 pm

The lessons and legacy of D-Day are remembered and preserved at the National D-Day Memorial. This is a place where visitors discover and recognize the worthy service of those who answer duty’s call and a place where gravity and dignity are hallmarks. Led by Col. William A. McIntosh, D-Day Memorial Foundation president, this personal tour will include one hour at the memorial site and one hour to walk around the grounds and gift shop.

Staff Ride: Executive Director’s Tour of New Market Battlefield State Historical Park, New Market, Virginia
Saturday, May 22nd, 12:00–5:00 pm (lunch provided)

The core area of this pivotal battle fought on 15 May 1864 has been owned and interpreted by VMI since 1964. The crossroads village of New Market became a battlefield when Confederate MG John Breckinridge, former Vice President of the United States, turned back the advancing Union Army under German born MG Franz Sigel. In an effort to bolster his slight numbers, Breckinridge called out the VMI Cadet Corps which found itself in the center of the fight at the pivotal moment. Victory was determined by their actions. The tour will be conducted by COL Keith Gibson and the staff of the battlefield park. In addition to a discussion of the evolution of the battle and leadership principles demonstrated, the group will also explore civilian experience as revealed by the Bushong family on whose farm the battle played out.

ABOUT THE HALL OF VALOR

The Hall of Valor commemorates the service and sacrifice of VMI Alumni in time of war. Established in 1967, the Hall is the largest display of valor decorations in the nation. The criterion for inclusion in the Hall is that the alumnus must have received at least one of the eleven decorations for valor awarded by the United States. There are over 1,100 individual alumni represented with a combined total of over 4,200 medals including seven Medal of Honor recipients, 87 Distinguished Service Cross/Navy Cross/Air Force Cross recipients and 742 Purple Heart recipients. A gold star in the lower left corner of the case indicates the alumnus was killed in action.

Members of the Hall of Valor are arranged alphabetically within their VMI Class year. Each column and row is identified by letters and numbers, respectively. Among the names found in the Hall of Valor are General of the Army George C. Marshall (location C2), Admiral Richard Byrd (location D3), Lieutenant General Lewis B. “Chesty” Puller (location G11) and General George S. Patton (location B3). In 2000, the Hall of Valor was dedicated in honor of Lieutenant General Puller, 1921, the most decorated VMI alumnus.

CALL FOR PAPERS

WAYS of WAR

78th Annual Meeting of the Society for Military History
Cantigny First Division Foundation,
Lisle, Illinois
9-12 June 2011

The Society for Military History is pleased to announce its call for papers for the 78th Annual Meeting, hosted by the Cantigny First Division Foundation at the Lisle Hilton Hotel in Lisle, Illinois, June 9-12, 2011. The conference theme is “Ways of War”—whether there are national, cultural and ethnic ways of war in history; whether conflicts can be understood in light of the ways of war; and the impact of ways of war on society, technology, policy and so forth. We especially encourage junior scholars to present their work and to serve on panels. As always, the program committee will consider other panel and paper proposals dealing with important questions of military history.

Panel proposals must include a panel title, contact information for all panelists, a brief description of the purpose and theme of the panel, a 1-paragraph abstract of each of the papers, the CV of each panelist, including commentator and chair, and contact information. All panelists must be SMH members. Proposals for individual papers are welcome and should include a brief abstract, abbreviated curriculum vitae, and contact information. The deadline for proposals is October 1, 2010. Proposals may be submitted electronically to conference coordinator Paul Herbert (pherbert@firstdivisionmuseum.org) or by regular mail to the First Division Museum, ATTN: SMH Program Committee, 1 S 151 Winfield Road, Wheaton, Illinois 60189. The program committee will acknowledge receipt of each proposal within two weeks of its arrival.

The meeting will be held at the Lisle Hilton Hotel in Lisle, Illinois, just west of Chicago, with some events taking place on Cantigny Park, home of the First Division Museum, in nearby Wheaton. Lisle and Wheaton are easily accessible from O’Hare and Midway airports and are also served by Metra Rail. The conference site is just off Interstate Route 88 at Naperville Road, with many nearby hotels, motels, restaurants and shopping areas.

For more details, please contact Dr. Paul Herbert at pherbert@firstdivisionmuseum.org or (630)-260-8225.

Deadline for proposals is October 1, 2010
The mission of the VMI Center for Leadership and Ethics is to advance the understanding, practice, and integration of leadership and character development at the Institute and to share insights gleaned from the VMI programs with a broader national audience.

The Center’s new and innovative programs will initially focus on ensuring that the Institute realizes the full potential of the leadership and character development experiences available to the Corps of Cadets. In time, the Institute will use the Center’s capabilities to offer programs in leadership and ethics to a broader national audience.

The independent Marshall Foundation is a living memorial to the man Winston Churchill called “the organizer of victory.” The Foundation, with its museum, library, and archives, is the place where the ideals and values that shaped and motivated Marshall are kept alive.

The Foundation exists to perpetuate Marshall’s leadership qualities and exemplary character through its educational and international programs, Web site, and facilities that offer a wide range of resources and materials for use by the general public, amateur historians, scholars and students of all ages.
